GENERAL AND REVENUE DEPARTMENTS.

SIR,

I have the honour to report that as per instructions conveyed in Dewan's D. O. dated 9th February 1904, Mr L. Krishna Rao. Superintendent of Police was relieved of the charge of the Tumkur District Police Office and deputed to do Special duty in connection with the enquiry relating to false coins and forged currency notes. Copy of his memo herewith submitted will give an idea as to the nature of work devolving on him. It is necessary that there should be given, for clerical work, a small establishment consisting of two clerks, one on Rs 25/- and the other on Rs 20/- with an allowance of Rs 10/- and Rs 5/- respectively. It is necessary that the salary of the two hands should be decent in order to make the post attractive considering that they will be required to be constantly on the move all over the Province with Sri Krishna Rao. They will also be entitled to travelling allowance according to the Service Regulations.

As regards Sri Krishna Rao, I am of opinion that he should be granted a deputation allowance of Rs 100/- per mensem during the period he may be employed on special duty which may not extend over a longer period than 6 months. The enquiry will will extend all over the Province and he will be required to visit different Taluk Casabas where the nefarious Trade of manufacturing or uttering false coins and of forging Currency notes is carried on. The onerous nature of work and the incidental expenses involved require that he should be remunerated, as above recommended, during the period he will be so employed. He will be entitled to travelling allowances of a Provincial Officer under the Mysore Service Regulations viz. Rs 5/- per day and as. 8/- mileage; for this purpose, Bangalore will be the Christmas Head Quarters for the time being. I shall arrange to place four constables from the Tumkur District Special Reserve at his disposal as orderlies until the deputation period terminates. I request you will be good enough to obtain early orders of the Government sanctioning the above proposals and an imprest of Rs 30/- being placed at his disposal, as this work has to commence immediately and, without clerical staff and funds, he will not be able to do much in this direction.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient Servant

D Macleod
Inspector General of Police

Memo

The confidential enquiry relating to the circulation of false coins and forged currency notes, in so far as the Mysore Province is concerned, is now practically entrusted to me. In order that the investigation may be carried on with thoroughness and all reasonable despatch, the following proposals are submitted for the favourable consideration and support of the Inspector General of Police.

2. The first point deserving of consideration is the scope and nature of the task proposed to be undertaken. As full details have already been given in my confidential communication of the 16th ultimo, there is no need to recapitulate them here. In brief the District as well as the Taluk Head Quarters in each District have to be visited; investigations and inspections have to be conducted at several trading centres both in the interior and along the Railway line throughout the Province. Specimens of counterfeit coins and coining appliances have to be collected and forged currency notes in circulation have to be traced as far as possible, at the same time as information is collected on the different processes adopted in manufacturing and forging them. The task of compiling statistical information in regard to cases already decided by Courts in the several districts during the past 5 years or more may be considered somewhat less laborious and exacting. But the same cannot be said of the substantial portion of the work that remains to be done in tracing the true sources from which the bulk of counterfeit coins and forged currency notes finds free circulation. Further, that part of the investigation which specially refers to the system of "throffing" coins and to the practical working of the rules intended to provide safe-guards against the introduction of false coins into currency at the several Treasuries and Banks, seems to call for delicate handling.

3. All this work necessarily involves the employment of a properly trained staff of men and of trustworthy informants - it being, of course, assumed that the active Cooperation and help of the District Offices will be readily available whenever required. It seems to me that the preliminary work of collecting and compiling statistics of recorded information available in the District and Taluk Treasuries and in the several Police Offices may be safely entrusted to local officers. The statistics to be compiled by them will be accepted after due verification during my visits to the respective Taluks. Similar arrangements may also be made to trace the false coins among the ensuing Revenue collections and to note down the names of persons tendering them with a view to facilitate further investigation and detection of the sources from which such coins were originally obtained. If the services of any special local Police officer be needed either to follow up any reliable clue or to obtain from confidential sources information likely to lead to a useful discovery, the Police Su-perintendent of the district concerned may be authorised to comply with re-quisitions for placing the services of such Officer temporarily at my disposal during my short tour in the district.

This arrangement, while it ensures local sympathy and cooperation, entails no extra cost to Government, though the giving of [illegible] and clerical labour that will thereby result would be considerable.

4. The rest of the work, apart from the investigation and research, to be personally conducted by me cannot be conveniently managed without the aid of a special staff.
The duties of the clerical and medical staffs may be arranged under the following heads: —

(a) The care and custody of specimens of counterfeit coins and forged currency notes as well as of moulds and other appliances to be collected at the various places; their assortment according to years and according to different processes of manufacture, labelling each specimen with slips of information showing how, when, from whom and under what circumstances it was traced and by what process the coin was manufactured etc.

(b) The collection and compilation of statistics and records of investigation held from day to day; indexing and registering information to be obtained from confidential and detective services on different topics; the correspondence and other routine work of the office.

(c) Accounts of receipts and expenditure of establishment service funds and imprest money; preparation of bills and vouchers as well as assisting in the general clerical work of the office.

(d) : The work of a clerical kind ordinarily performed by collars and peons.

For each of the items (a) (b) and (c) a clerk is separately wanted and the emoluments to be attached to the posts should be sufficiently remunerative to induce trained and reliable hands from the permanent establishment of the District Office to take up the work as a temporary measure and to keep on moving with one post place to place. If three hands should be considered superfluous a trial might be made with only two clerks — items (a) and (c) being entrusted to one hand and item (b) being entrusted to another a place of a provisional clerk to meet unforeseen contingencies as investigation advances being left unfilled for the present. As advised by Mr Fawcett, I would select for one of the clerks a trained qualified Bhroff of some standing from the establishment of either the District or the Huzur Treasury and for the other place one of the Deputy munshis or clerks on Rs 30/- might be chosen from the District Police establishment. The salaries of the three clerks may be fixed at Rs 30+10=40, 25+5=3 20+5=25 respectively. The duties of the selected officials being taken up by temporary hands. A gollaron Rs 10/- may be added to the proposed Special establishment, while two leons may be taken on from the District Reserve Police establishment of one of the Districts without extra cost to Government, only a small provision being made for giving them a monthly allowance of Rs 2/- each. All the officials and the menial servants will, of course, be entitled to draw such additional travelling allowances as are permitted by the rules in force to those of coordinate rank borne on the establishment of officers touring throughout the Province. It will be seen that the cost of the special clerical establishment proposed is about 1/3 less than that allotted to a Police Superintendent in charge of a District and if, as is proposed, the post of the third clerk is not to be immediately filled up, there will be still further reduction noticeable.

A proposition statement is appended for approval.

5. The purchase of specimens of Coins, a few articles of furniture and stationery requisites, cartheir for conveying office - boxes and records, while on tour, payments to informants etc - these are necessary items of expenditure varying according to contingencies and circumstances. An imprest of Rs 200/- inclusive of Secret Service funds, being not in excess of what is allowed to the District Police Superintendent of Bangalore may be sanctioned, due provision being made for the recoupment of the imprest money or presentation of bills and vouchers at any of the Government treasuries in the Province, subject to the control and check of the Inspector General of Police.

6. The foregoing items do not include travelling allowances of two orderlies permi-ted to be retained by me during my tours on special duty, as such allowance may be appropriately included in the month travelling allowance bills of the Police establishment to which they belong.

7. The probable period during which the special establishment may be required to be kept on, is the next point for consideration. It is not possible at this stage, to form a correct estimate of the labour and time which the developments of the special investigation may eventually consume.
Roughly speaking, each District may take from 2 to 3 weeks to finish, exclusive of the time spent in actual travelling But the average number of working days while on tour may be approximately fixed at 3 weeks for each District, halts and journeys inclusive. This will barely give a week's breathing time to the Special establishment, after one District is finished and before another District is taken up. Thus clean eight months will be required to close the investigation and then an extra month may perhaps be needed to allow of the results of the work being properly Condensed and presented in an acceptable form. All possible efforts will be earnestly made to push on with the work briskly without sacrificing accuracy to economising time. What saving in time may thus accrue will go to proportionately reduce the expenditure and to bring the work of the Special establishment to an earlier and yet Satisfactory Conclusion.
